

Cory and I had been looking for someone to refinish and install our hardwood floors for many months. Manny was finally referred by our neighbor. They were actually planning on using him for their floors do to a family's recommendation. Manny came out to meet us and to take a look at what we needed done. We wanted new hardwood floors put in our living room and hallway, wanted the floors in 3 other rooms refinished, and wanted the mantle on our fireplace and our stairs refinished as well to match the floors. This was a big job so we wanted the best person possible to do it. Once he left, I remember Cory and I praising him on the knowledge, passion, and pride he had for his work. Another thing that intrigued us was the education he continues to take to ensure he offers the best technique and product to his customers. There was no doubt once we met him that he would be the one to put in our floors.

Now that our floors are done, we couldn't be happier. Manny has something his classes will never be able to teach him and that is his ability to pay attention to detail. This is seen through his craftsmanship. The transformation of our floors, stairs, and the mantle on our fireplace is beautiful. Manny and his helper, Dave, are wonderful people who happen to have found their "calling in life"-to install beautiful hardwood floors and/or bring back the beauty in old hardwood floors.
